FIVE VOTES MAY PROVE DETERMINING FACTOR IN DECISION

(Copyright 1922 by United Press.) Washington, Dec. 2.—The fate of the ship subsidy bill in the senate hangs in the balance with five votes likely to prove the determining factor.

Doubtful administration republicans sent to the senate from the farm districts of the midwest can sway the bill to passage or defeat as soon as they make up their minds how they are going to vote.

This was revealed in a poll of the upper house of congress conducted by the United Press today.

The entire democratic side of the chamber—with the exception of Senators Ransdell and Broussard of Louisiana—is against the measure.

This means 34 sure votes. It will require 48 to defeat the subsidy if all the senators vote.

The remaining 15 votes against the bill must come from the republicans if it is beaten. The progressive republicans who are considered lined up against the measure include: Senators Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Gooding, Ladd, La Follette, Lenroot, McNary, Norbeck and Norris. This brings the total of the practically sure votes against the measure to 44. Five more votes are required.

These five votes must come from the two remaining progressive senators, France of Maryland and Couzens of Michigan, or the republicans of the midwest farming states who have not yet made up their minds.

LIONS ARE AGAINST SALE OF ANY PART OF COURT HOUSE GROUNDS

Much indignation has been aroused over the proposed sale of a part of the new court house grounds to be used by private concerns for a filling station. Local organizations have taken up the matter, and a shower of protests against any such action are coming in to the county commissioners, since that body has published the fact that it will have a hearing on the subject December 16.

The Lions Club is the latest to take action denouncing the sale of this property for any purpose whatsoever. The following resolution was adopted at the Wednesday meeting of the club:

Whereas, the county board of Crow Wing county has before them a resolution asking for a hearing on the proposed sale of the northeast corner of the new court house grounds, and

Whereas, the sale of any part of these grounds would unquestionably mar the beauty of the setting of our new Court House,

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Lions Club of Brainerd is emphatically opposed to the proposed sale, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county commissioners with our request that they take no action that will deprive us as citizens of Brainerd and Crow Wing county of any part of our present court house square, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Brainerd Daily Dispatch with the request that they publish same in the columns of their newspaper.

It has been freely stated that the county commissioners favor the sale of this corner for commercial purposes, in fact it is alleged that the members of the board were the first to broach the subject. "EACH STEP TAKEN MUST BE BASED ON INVESTIGATION AND RESEARCH"

SO THAT THE MOVEMENT SHALL SUFFER NO SETBACKS," SENATOR WARNS

(By United Press) Washington, Dec. 2.—The progressive movement must work slowly and carefully if it is to succeed, Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, warned today in opening a conference of progressives here from all part of the country.

Each step taken must be based on thorough investigation and research so that the progressive movement shall suffer no setbacks, La Follette declared.

The progressives gathered under the auspices of the People's Legislative Service, an organization created by a handful of men in congress two years ago.

Today's session was a sequel to, and in a sense a part of the meeting of congressional progressives at the capital yesterday when a definite progressive bloc was formed.

While the progressives worked in congress, the progressives who met here today work in the various states. The bloc will seek enactment of progressive legislation. The other progressives will keep the congressional group in touch with the country, and will try to stimulate and rally public opinion along the progressive lines.

An all day session was planned at 10 a. m. and ending tonight with a dinner at which Samuel Untermyer, former Senator of Kansas, and other noted men and women will speak.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AFTER MORE THAN A MILLION OF THEIR PROPERTY

St. Paul, Dec. 2.—Four hundred and fifty convicted bootleggers Monday will seek to block federal seizure of property worth more than half a million dollars.

Attorneys representing the army of liquor dealers will storm federal court and ask Judge Wilbur F. Booth for a permanent injunction to restrain L. M. Willcuts, internal revenue collector, from seizing their property in payment of government taxes on liquor dealers.

The decision in the case will be of nation wide importance as such an injunction would prevent the government collecting millions of dollars. The case here will involve about $675,000.

Judge Booth granted a temporary injunction last February enjoining the internal revenue department from seizing property in lieu of the tax.

His decision was affirmed by the supreme court, in a parallel case June 5th.

"The tax is in fact a penalty and cannot be collected as a federal tax" the court held in granting the temporary injunction.

FIFTY MILE GALE WHICH POUNDED MAPLEHURST TO PIECES SUBSIDES

FIRST BODY WASHED ASHORE CAKED IN ICE THAT OF MATE BREWER MILLS

(By United Press) Calumet, Mich., Dec. 2.—Coast guards and survivors of the Canadian collier Maplehurst patrolled the beach off Portage Lake canal today watching for bodies of the victims.

The fifty mile gale which pounded the steel boat to pieces on the rocks, subsided over night.

First of the bodies of the eleven dead to be washed ashore was that of Frank Smith, first mate, of Brewer Mills, Ontario. It was caked in ice.

There are no bodies aboard the ill fated vessel, Captain Tucker of the coast guard is convinced. After the rescue of nine members of the crew early Friday, huge waves pounded away the deck house and bridge.

No attempt had been made by the ship's crew to launch their own frail life boats in the raging sea. The boats were smashed like so much match wood by the waters.

"God help us," was the last word of Captain Nels Bernard of the Maplehurst as the coast guard boat made its last trip to the side of the battered hulk.

Soon after huge waves engulfed the steamer, and those remaining aboard were seen no more.

Members of the crew who were saved will remain on watch for bodies of their mates. They are with the coast guard until transportation arrives for them from the Canadian owners of the Maplehurst.

CAR SHORTAGE IS THREATENING BIG LOSS IN GRAIN

MORE THAN 2,000,000 BUSHELS OF GRAIN AWAITS TRANSPORTATION

FARMERS, COUNTRY BANKS AND MERCHANTS FACE FINANCIAL RUIN

(By United Press) St. Paul, Dec. 2.—Destruction of more than 2,000,000 bushels of grain in Minnesota and the Dakotas is inevitable unless immediate relief from the car shortage is forthcoming, state officials were advised today.

Railroad commissioners and grain elevator operators of the three states conferred with O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, on the problem.

Not only the farmers, but scores of country banks and merchants face financial ruin unless cars are available to move the crops within 30 days, it was stated.

More than 750,000 bushels of grain are lying on the ground along the Soo Line in North Dakota, Frank Milholland, North Dakota railroad commissioner, asserted.

More than 2,000,000 bushels of grain in the three states will rot unless cars are provided. The report of Milholland was a summary of the opinion of grain elevator operators throughout this section.

Twenty-five thousand cars are needed within 30 days, according to Commissioner Jacobson. Not only are the farmers threatened with huge losses on grain crops, but potato growers are desperately in need of cars to move the spud crop, he said.

FARMERS, COUNTRY BANKS AND MERCHANTS FACE FINANCIAL RUIN

(By United Press) St. Paul, Dec. 2.—Destruction of more than 2,000,000 bushels of grain in Minnesota and the Dakotas is inevitable unless immediate relief from the car shortage is forthcoming, state officials were advised today.

Railroad commissioners and grain elevator operators of the three states conferred with O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, on the problem.

Not only the farmers, but scores of country banks and merchants face financial ruin unless cars are available to move the crops within 30 days, it was stated.

More than 750,000 bushels of grain are lying on the ground along the Soo Line in North Dakota, Frank Milholland, North Dakota railroad commissioner, asserted.

More than 2,000,000 bushels of grain in the three states will rot unless cars are provided. The report of Milholland was a summary of the opinion of grain elevator operators throughout this section.

Twenty-five thousand cars are needed within 30 days, according to Commissioner Jacobson. Not only are the farmers threatened with huge losses on grain crops, but potato growers are desperately in need of cars to move the spud crop, he said.

PRINCE RAPHAEL EMMANUEL

The following tribute to Prince Raphael Emmanuel, is but one of many given or sent to him by sincere admirers of both the man and his marvelous intellect.

"Being a guest, I was informed by my hostess that I was to have the pleasure of meeting Prince Raphael Emmanuel, who for some years has been addressing clubs, churches and schools on Chaldea. I immediately visualized the name (a silly habit I have.) Raphael Emmanuel—a patriarch with white hair and a flowing beard at least a foot long. Imagine my surprise when the most faultlessly attired young man stepped off the stage! He is about thirty—has black, piercing magnetic eyes, black hair, smooth face, accentuating the most perfect set of teeth you ever saw. Having learned his English from Milton, Dryden and Pope, he speaks a purely classic tongue in "heroic" style—making constant allusions to Aeneas and his travels much as our young folks refer to the latest stunts of a movie favorite. I never before realized the beauty of Virgil until I heard him recite it

THE POWER OF LEGISLATION

THE power of legislation is not in the provisions of a law but in the sanction of the people for, as Calvin Coolidge, vice president of the United States, has said: "Real reform does not begin with a law, it ends with a law." This obvious proposition should be heeded in this age, when minorities are consistently and persistently agitating for more legislation, which they deem desirable but which may not have behind it the strength of popular approval. To justify its existence and achieve its purpose a law must be sanctioned by society. Any law that is written to express the will of even a majority who are carried away by a popular and passing whim is a grave danger to legislation as a whole, for when a law is not based in the sanctions of society, and is broken without causing any serious resentment of the majority of the people, its violation, because it is not taken seriously, makes it easier to violate other laws that have the strength of popular approval behind them.

Any law or injunction that begets a widespread opposition to its provisions, even though it is not directly violated, tends to weaken the whole legislative system and make infinitely more difficult the recognition of the sanctity that should clothe all legislation.

When the majority persists in ignoring minorities, if such minorities are large and persistent, there is always a danger that the constituents of the minority will act as though the law had not been written, which will in turn lead to the violation of other laws which other minorities may not wish to obey. Legislation that is not based on the will of the people, just because it is not sanctioned by the popular will and is therefore not considered inviolable, is in constant need of being bolstered up by still more legislation, and the legislatures are required to continue writing legislative measures, that make still other laws necessary to support those already written, and the merry work goes on perpetually but uselessly. Laws reflect standards of conduct and do not make those standards. The people determine these standards and, having determined them, make the laws to safeguard them. But such standards cannot be imposed upon the people from without; they originate with the people themselves.

This is clearly illustrated by the attempts that have been made to guarantee a living wage. Such legislation has failed because the public has not yet decided what a living wage really is. Questions of this nature arise, "Whose standard of living is to be adopted?" and "What is the authority on which a certain sum may be accepted as a living wage?"

When the American people have fixed this standard legislation will follow which, having the sanction of society behind it, will enforce it. What the country needs most is a release of intelligence, leading to a careful consideration of present problems which, by developing a universally intelligent understanding of present needs will fix new standards. Legislation may follow to enforce the will of the people, but the direction of the people's will along right lines is the paramount requirement of the age.

FARMERS' WIVES LIKE THE FARM

OUT of 892 farm wives in Minnesota who have replied to a questionnaire asking if they wish their daughters to marry farmers, eight hundred have replied that they do. The reasons for this wish, on the part of those who have shared the farmer's life, are inspired by a lofty idealism; one of the chief reasons lying in the opportunity for service on the farm where crops are grown to serve the needs of the world.

It speaks well for farmers as husbands that 90 per cent of their wives should wish their daughters to marry farmers, and if the daughters take the advice of their mothers and hold on to the farmer and the farm home life of the agriculturalist will be of a high standard. Farm management will be more efficient if both husband and wife have been brought up in farm homes, for some of the most pitiable failures in the world are women who, after having lived as girls in cities, marry farmers and in blissful ignorance of anything related to the farm attempt to preside in a farmer's home.

The objections of the 10 per cent, who do not wish their daughters to marry farmers, should not be overlooked. One of these wrote "we grade our roads, but we don't grade our schools." This criticism is well grounded. During recent years there has been more emphasis on the need of good roads for the farmer and good stock for the farm than on good children in the homes and good educational standards in the schools. The influence of the 90 per cent of farmers' wives who wish their daughters to marry farmers will go a long way to correct this mistaken emphasis. They will be heard from, and so will their daughters, improvements begin with the wish of the people themselves.

GENERAL PERSHING'S APPEAL

THERE is much to be said for the position taken by General Pershing who is inviting the people to get behind legislation which will provide an army that will be efficient. So long as armies are recognized as part of a nation's equipment there is every reason why they should be efficient. There is no more to be said for an efficient police force or fire department than can be said in favor of an efficient army. Wisdom is against perpetuating inefficiency. So long as a thing is needed, it ought to be kept efficient.

The general's demand is not for a large army but for an efficient fighting force which if called into action will be ready to acquit itself well. There are many who will agree with this position who would strenuously oppose enlarging the military establishment. Militarism is not in line with Americanism. The more American we are the less military we will be. The world has not yet forgotten the lesson of just four years ago. Militarism did not serve Germany well. The common people would be rid of both navalism and militarism, and they look towards the realization of such a hope. But so long as armies and navies remain there is no excuse for failure to have them ready to do that for which they are designed.

JUST how foolish scholars may appear when they try to live their own little lives is seen in the case of Professor Tiernan.

OTHER PEOPLES IDEAS

Editors of the Dispatch:

I wish to make use of the columns of the Dispatch to voice my keen appreciation of the proceedings of the Improvement League of East Brainerd as published in the Dispatch last Saturday.

The residents of that ward of our city go after any thing they want with such intensity of purpose that they usually get what they want thus showing their loyalty not only to their own section of the city but also to any movement that promises to further the improvement of the whole city. They evidently vision a bigger and better Brainerd.

I was especially pleased to know of their election of a site for a new high school building because years ago while I was still in active educational work I had often observed the natural advantages of that particular location for a high school site. I fixed upon block 56 with the ravine in front of it as a spot almost perfectly endowed by nature with those fundamentals which are needed for a high school site.

Some of these fundamentals are its central location, being almost central on a line drawn from the present mill district and the old mill district where Jerry Howe's mill used to stand. Secondly that block and the ravine will provide abundant room for the building and the ravine possibilities for almost as fine a stadium as that in the city of Tacoma which is admitted to be the greatest and finest in the whole country. A few years ago I was showing a lady from Tacoma, who was visiting at my house the sights of Brainerd. When we came to that part about which I have been writing she exclaimed: "Why there is as good a site for a high school and a stadium as we started with in Tacoma and would not cost anything like as much as ours cost us."

I am not suggesting that the school board should at once, upon securing the site, proceed to develop the property into a finished playground. The ravine, now that it is well drained by the new sewer already providing a convenient, clean, sanitary and beautiful playground. The people, although hardened by heavy tax are ready and willing to vote the money necessary to provide the best education for their children that school management may devise, but ornamentals can wait awhile.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

In district court the case of the state against Frank Barchie, was brought to a close and went to the jury at 11:30 this morning.

Barchie is indicted on a charge of first degree robbery as the man who represented himself as an Indian agent and entered the home of Frank Kroll of Cuyuna, appropriating some $400 which he found in a trunk while making an inspection under the guise of an officer.

The jury differs from others in this term of court, in that there are two 11p women serving. The first panel was dismissed and a new venire drawn Friday which contained the names of Mrs. A. C. Weber and Jennie H. Bordon. In addition to these ladies the Barchie jury is composed of Charles Ellison, Nels Hegsted, Boyd Hamilton, Bert Kylo, K. Nesheim, P. A. Kendall, I. Bjornas, Louis Lindsay, P. A. Johnson and Merle Heath.

No new cases were begun this afternoon, the trial of the case of Anna S. Herman against Mary A. Innes and Roy Innes will be taken up Monday morning.

JAMES S. CHRYSLER DIED

Resident of County 37 Years. Had War Record Serving in 1st Minn. Artillery

James Stevens Chrysler was born at West Troy, N. Y. on May 4th, 1848. He moved with his parents to Minnesota in 1859, the family settling at Sauk Rapids.

After the Civil war broke out, Mr. Chrysler, then a young man, enlisted in the First Minnesota heavy artillery, serving with that regiment until the end of the war.

He was married in Sauk Rapids to Miss Amelia Irvine, and to this union five children were born, three of whom are living: Alice, Mrs. Wetmore, of Dykeman, Letta, Mrs. J. C. Toms, of Crosby, and Irvine of Platte Lake township. A daughter Lillian died in infancy, and another daughter, Mrs. Steve Coffield, passed away several years ago.

Thirty-seven years ago last October Mr. Chrysler moved to Crow Wing county, settling on a farm in Maple Grove township, where he lived until the death of his wife three years ago.

He died Friday morning from the effects of paralysis, of which he had been suffering from for some time, the third and fatal stroke coming on last Sunday.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, from the Dykeman school house, Rev. S. M. Kelly, officiating, and interment made in the Dykeman cemetery.

Mr. Chrysler was a member of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., and the members of the post marched in a body to pay their last respects to a much loved comrade this morning, where they viewed the remains at the Whitney chapel. On account of the inclemency of the weather, the old soldiers will be unable to attend the funeral or have charge of the services as is their usual custom.

For many years Mr. Hanft was a traveling salesman employed by the Minneapolis Furniture company. He was a Spanish-American war veteran and a brother of Judge Hugo O.

Hanft of St. Paul. Death occurred after a prolonged illness.

Mr. Hanft was born in New Ulm, Minn., October 26, 1873, and had lived in Minneapolis since his marriage in 1902 to Miss Lulu Seiter of Winthrop, Minn. He served in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, with the Thirtieth Minnesota regiment.

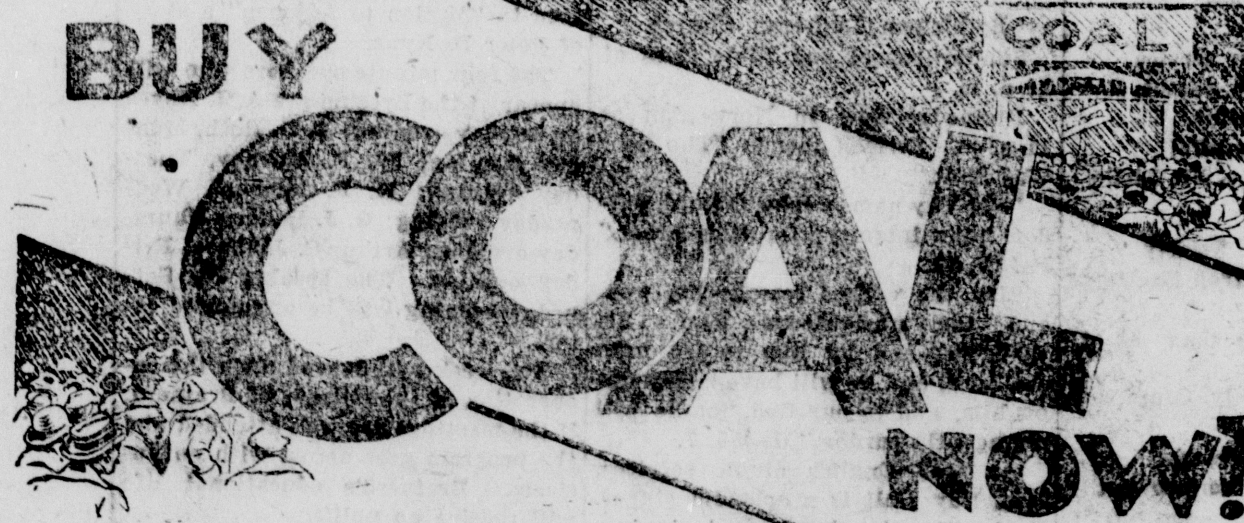

Surviving besides Judge Hanft are the widow, living at the family home at 807 East Fourteenth street, Minneapolis, and another brother, Frank W. Hanft of Marinette, Wis.

Many veterans of the Thirtieth Minnesota regiment attended the funeral services which took place from the Wefander chapel, 1835 Chicago avenue, Minneapolis, Friday afternoon. The body was sent to New Ulm where burial took place this afternoon.

AT POULTRY SHOW IN BRAINERD

County Show Freely Given Honors of Being Largest County Show
Held in State

It is freely admitted that the Crow Wing County poultry show is the largest in point of exhibits, of any county show in the state. About five hundred birds of all the standard breeds are competing for high honors. Placing their value at ten dollars a piece, which is too conservative, there is quite a little capital represented.

The bird that creates the most interest is Clover Crest Tancred, a white leghorn cockerel only six months old, but for which his owner has refused $500. Tancred, in a pen all by himself, shows his superior breeding, and a red ribbon attached states that he won second prize in the production class at the National Poultry Exposition held in connection with the dairy show in St. Paul early in the autumn.

Out-of-town exhibitors at the Crow Wing county annual poultry show now in full blast at the Gardner auditorium, were astonished at the seeming lack of interest that Brainerd citizens generally are taking in this big event. It is stated that in other cities where they exhibit, the townspeople are strong supporters of the show, and turn out in large numbers to attend its programs.

Officials in charge of Brainerd exhibition were quite discouraged at the small attendance at yesterday's sessions, especially the evening program, upon which a great deal of time had been put in to make it exceptionally entertaining.

The American Legion quartette rendered several selections, bringing in local color in one song, much to the amusement of the audience. The Lions club attended in a body, with their orchestra, and sang several songs appropriate to the occasion.

W. E. Stanfield, poultry expert, was to have delivered an address, but postponed it on account of the small turn-out. It is hoped that he will speak at both afternoon and evening sessions today.

The program for today will be even more extensive than last evening's. Through the courtesy of the Woodhead Motor Company, the Amrad radio frequency set and Western Electric Co.'s loud speaker has been installed by the Brainerd Electric Co., and their regular program given at the show instead of at their store, this evening. Miss Alice R. Johnstone will favor with several violin selections at the evening session, and the balance of the program will be of an equally high standard.

A. J. Hayes, cashier of the First National Bank, in speaking of the show stated that it is the best that he has ever seen. "Brainerd people should realize what this show means to the community," said Mr. Hayes, "and give it their most loyal support."

Dr. W. A. Erickson, dentist, expressed himself as most agreeably surprised at the magnitude of the exposition. "This city is fortunate in being able to entertain such a valuable attraction," is Dr. Erickson's opinion.

W. A. M. Johnstone, clerk of the district court, gives this as his opinion: "It's the finest thing I ever saw in the way of a poultry show, and I attended a great many. I think it is a shame that the people of Brainerd do not turn out for such an opportunity as this show affords to benefit the county."

Henry I. Cohen, real estate and insurance, has this to say in regard to the event: "I had the pleasure of attending the poultry show last evening. It was a great surprise and pleasure to witness the exhibit. The men who have charge and have brought this show to its present state of perfection are entitled to great praise, and should have the loyal support and patronage of every citizen of Brainerd. I would strongly advise anyone who wishes to see what can be done in developing Crow Wing county in its poultry wealth, to go to Gardner Hall today and view this splendid exhibit."

Believing in the purposes underlying the emphasis that is being placed upon education by the United States bureau of education, the National Education association and the American Legion, who are this year working for a serious consideration of America's educational problems during the week, December 3 to 9, and being advised of Brainerd's needs along this line, particularly with regard to adequate high school facilities, and being convinced that a serious consideration of the educational needs of the city, state and nation, will bring good results.

Now, therefore, I, Frank E. Little, mayor of Brainerd, do hereby request that all school teachers and officials, churches, newspapers, civic and other organizations, participate in the exercises of the week of December 6 to 9, and particularly urge all citizens to go to the high school and there learn of the need of more modern facilities for the education of the youth of this city.

FIGHT OVER DRAFT IS ON AGAIN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 2.—Once again the draft will be one of the big issues when the major league owners and the minor league magnates get together in their annual winter sessions.

Naturally the major league owners want to get the pick of the minors for $7,500 at the close of each season and obviously the little fellows want to get $175,000 if their product is high class.

That is the whole argument in the draft. The Pacific Coast League, the American Association and the International League have been able to defeat all the moves made by the majors to force them to agree to a modified form of the draft.

As far as the Pacific Coast League is concerned, it already has voted against any restoration of the draft. In the past two years, the Coast magnates have been paid close to a half-million dollars for players and they want to continue having an open market for their players.

The American Association is not so vitally interested, excepting in the moral effect that it might have in holding up the prestige of the minors. The association hasn't been developing players for several years.

Since Jack Dunn has agreed to and has started breaking up his powerful Baltimore Club, the International League may not desert the ranks of the anti-drafts, as was threatened last summer.

Peeved because of the slump of business caused by Baltimore's annual feat of running away with the pennant, the league met in special session and warned Dunn if he didn't break up his team, they would vote to restore the draft.

Baltimore has sold Bentley to the Giants but the other stars are still in the fold and if Dunn doesn't show that he has plans for disposing of them, the International probably will pull away from the "Big Three."

Unless Commissioner Landis has developed plans for an amicable settlement of the controversy, a major-minor war may develop at the meetings.

Charley Ebbets, the owner of the Brooklyn club, who would like to have the draft price reduced to $7,500, instead of $750, wanted the majors to boycott the minors last year, but it was learned that some of the magnates feared they would have to class Ebbets' team as one of the minors and they wanted to retain his friendship.

Ban Johnson, the American League president, has been doing a lot of talking out in the west about bombs that he is going to throw, etc. Perhaps he has a piece of H. E. that will blast the minors out of their dugouts.

Johnson's campaign, however, seems to be against Commissioner Landis and if they ever do go to it out in the open it will be an interesting bout to watch.

Johnson, no doubt, could recruit some allies among the American League club owners if he went out "to get" Landis, but he wouldn't get much help among the National League magnates.

The American League boss is still said to be suffering from the wounds sustained when Commissioner Landis had the audacity to hold up the purse for the tiegame of the world's series and dispose of it without saying a word to him or John Heydler, the National League prexy.

AMUSEMENTS

Marion Davies at Lyceum

"Buried Treasure," the Paramount Cosmopolitan picture in which Marion Davies scored last night at the Lyceum shows the star as a wealthy New York girl who goes into a trance and sees her parents and friends as Spanish pirates and prisoners, their real antecedents. She succeeds in guiding her lover to a spot where treasure is buried and they are able to marry. Miss Davies wears jewels of great beauty in the picture.

Dorothy Gish Tries It in "Flying Pat"

Posing as a cook has its drawbacks especially if you can't cook, if the cop on the beat insists upon making love to you, and if you don't dare say a word, because you've told folks you're Swedish and can't speak a word of English. Dorothy Gish becomes involved in a merry muddle like this in "Flying Pat," her latest Paramount comedy-romance, which will be on view at the Lyceum theatre for Sunday only.

Your Horses." In the new screen comedy, as Terence Giluley, a ditch digger who becomes a builder and contractor, the star has a role that rivals his part in "Hold Your Horses"

"School Days" are Happy Days

The youth of today may never feel the thrill of discovering the secret in the hollow tree stump, but Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced idol of the screen, in his latest starring vehicle, Gus Edwards' "School Days," sponsored by Warner Brothers, which will be the feature attraction at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday, admits that he hasn't as yet unearthed the secret.

Despite the fact that Wesley is said to be tutored by a private teacher, after studio hours, his latest portrayal embodies all the pranks, the disappointments and the glory of the untamable, irresponsible heart of boyhood. The appeal of the picture is attributed to the fact that every human being has at some time or other gone through the primary stages of school.

SQUIRE EDGEGATE—A Flock of Consumers See a Chance to Get Even

BY LOUIS RICHARD

FIGHT OVER DRAFT IS ON AGAIN

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 2.—Once again the draft will be one of the big issues when the major league owners and the minor league magnates get together in their annual winter sessions.

Naturally the major league owners want to get the pick of the minors for $7,500 at the close of each season and obviously the little fellows want to get $175,000 if their product is high class.

That is the whole argument in the draft.

The Pacific Coast League, the American Association and the International League have been able to defeat all the moves made by the majors to force them to agree to a modified form of the draft.

As far as the Pacific Coast League is concerned, it already has voted against any restoration of the draft. In the past two years, the Coast magnates have been paid close to a half-million dollars for players and they want to continue having an open market for their players.

The American Association is not so vitally interested, excepting in the moral effect that it might have in holding up the prestige of the minors. The association hasn't been developing players for several years.

Since Jack Dunn has agreed to and has started breaking up his powerful Baltimore Club, the International League may not desert the ranks of the anti-drafts, as was threatened last summer.

Peeved because of the slump of business caused by Baltimore's annual feat of running away with the pennant, the league met in special session and warned Dunn if he didn't break up his team, they would vote to restore the draft.

Baltimore has sold Bentley to the Giants but the other stars are still in the fold and if Dunn doesn't show that he has plans for disposing of them, the International probably will pull away from the "Big Three."

Unless Commissioner Landis has developed plans for an amicable settlement of the controversy, a major-minor war may develop at the meetings.

Charley Ebbets, the owner of the Brooklyn club, who would like to have the draft price reduced to $7,500, instead of $750, wanted the majors to boycott the minors last year, but it was learned that some of the magnates feared they would have to class Ebbets' team as one of the minors and they wanted to retain his friendship.

Ban Johnson, the American League president, has been doing a lot of talking out in the west about bombs that he is going to throw, etc. Perhaps he has a piece of H. E. that will blast the minors out of their dugouts.

Johnson's campaign, however, seems to be against Commissioner Landis and if they ever do go to it out in the open it will be an interesting bout to watch.

Johnson, no doubt, could recruit some allies among the American League club owners if he went out "to get" Landis, but he wouldn't get much help among the National League magnates.

The American League boss is still said to be suffering from the wounds sustained when Commissioner Landis had the audacity to hold up the purse for the tiegame of the world's series and dispose of it without saying a word to him or John Heydler, the National League proxy.

AMUSEMENTS

Marion Davies at Lyceum

"Buried Treasure," the Paramount Cosmopolitan picture in which Marion Davies scored last night at the Lyceum shows the star as a wealthy New York girl who goes into a trance and sees her parents and friends as Spanish pirates and prisoners, their real antecedents. She succeeds in guiding her lover to a spot where treasure is buried and they are able to marry. Miss Davies wears jewels of great beauty in the picture.

Dorothy Gish Tries It in "Flying Pat"

Posing as a cook has its drawbacks especially if you can't cook, if the cop on the beat insists upon making love to you, and if you don't dare say a word, because you've told folks you're Swedish and can't speak a word of English. Dorothy Gish becomes involved in a merry muddle like this in "Flying Pat," her latest Paramount comedy-romance, which will be on view at the Lyceum theatre for Sunday only.

and her husband, who insists that she become more than a kitchen drudge and that she go out and make a "career" for herself. She takes up flying, but an adventure with her handsome instructor leads to domestic strife, and peppy Dorothy flees out into the cold world. Then follows a side-splitting series of events leading to their reconciliation.

Your Horses." In the new screen comedy, as Terence Gilluley, a ditch digger who becomes a builder and contractor, the star has a role that rivals his part in "Hold Your Horses."

"School Days" are Happy Days

The youth of today may never feel the thrill of discovering the secret in the hollow tree stump, but Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced idol of the screen, in his latest starring vehicle, Gus Edwards' "School Days," sponsored by Warner Brothers, which will be the feature attraction at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday, admits that he hasn't as yet unearthed the secret.

Despite the fact that Wesley is said to be tutored by a private teacher, after studio hours, his latest portrayal embodies all the pranks, the disappointments and the glory of the untamable, irresponsible heart of boyhood. The appeal of the picture is attributed to the fact that every human being has at some time or other gone through the primary stages of school.
